APPENDIX.

Rules of Order.

1. THE Conference shall meet at 8½ o'clock, A. M., and adjourn at 12 o'clock, M.
2. The President shall take the chair precisely at the hour to which the Conference stood adjourned, and cause the same to be opened by reading the Scriptures, singing, and prayer; and shall have the journals of the preceeding day read and approved.
3. The President shall decide all questions of order.
4. All motions and resolutions, introduced by any member, shall be reduced to writing, if the President, Secretary, or any two members require it.
5. When a motion is made, or a report presented, and is read by the Secretary, or stated by the President, it is in the possession of the Conference, but may be withdrawn before decision or amendment.
6. No new resolution shall be made until the one under consideration is disposed of, unless one of the following motions should intervene, viz.: indefinite postponement; laying on the table; reference to a committee; postponement to a given time; amendment, or substitute. A motion to lay on the table shall be put without debate.
7. No member shall be interrupted while speaking, except to be called to order.
8. When a member is about to speak, or deliver any matter to the Conference, he shall rise and respectfully address the President.
9. No member shall speak more than twice, on the same question, without the consent of the Conference.
10. Any member who voted in the majority may move a reconsideration.
11. No member shall absent himself from the service of the Conference without leave, unless he be sick, or unable to attend.

12. No member shall be allowed to vote on any question who is not within the bar when such question is put.

13. Every member within the bar shall give his vote, unless the Conference excuse him.

14. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

15. When a member moves the previous question, the vote shall be taken without debate; and if two-thirds of the members voting shall sustain the call, the President shall put the question pending, and the vote shall be put immediately without debate; and if the pending question is an amendment, or a substitute, and is rejected, the President shall then put the main question, and the vote shall be taken without debate.

Report of the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

WE are highly gratified at the remarkably favorable exhibit of the general condition and success of our publishing interests, under the skillful administration of the agent, Rev. Dr. Redford. Nothing less than such indomitable energy, untiring industry, and eminent financial ability as he has displayed, in the face of difficulties and discouragements that would have disheartened most men, could ever have extricated our Publishing House from its complicated embarrassments, and placed it, within the brief space of four years, upon a full commercial equality with similar great establishments which have never had to contend with such formidable obstacles. While we are aware that this unparalleled success is mainly due, and has often been accorded to Dr. Redford, we regard it as peculiarly appropriate that this tribute should be repeated by the Conference in which he began his ministry, almost in his boyhood, especially as he has recently been unanimously re-elected, by the late General Conference, to another four years' term of service in the same capacity—an act which we hail with unmingled satisfaction. We therefore congratulate our brother on the fact that, by his instrumentality, under the blessing of God, our publishing house has now become the joy and pride of Southern Methodism.

We regard the general diffusion of our Church literature, both standard and periodical, as one of the most valuable aids a preacher can call to his assistance in the performance of his ministerial work. When he knows that his people have our books and papers in their families, he has the assurance that they are in possession of information on all the great subjects of Christian life, progress, privilege, and duty, which paves the way for his public efforts, greatly facilitates his labors, and assures his success. They then have "light in their dwellings" corresponding to that reflected from the gospel mirror which he holds up before them in the pulpit. The result of this two-fold illumination can hardly be otherwise than a rapid and steady advancement in all the interests of the Church. With a view to this very end, it is considered particularly desirable that, among other works, Redford's "History of Methodism in Kentucky" be speedily placed in every Methodist family within our bounds.

Attention is called to our "New Monthly Magazine;" to the "Monthly Magazine for Sunday-School Teachers and Bible Classes," both soon to be issued; and the "Sunday-School Visitor," in its greatly improved forms and reduced prices, with the earnest hope that every member of this Conference, lay and clerical, will exert himself to the utmost to promote their circulation.

The acquisition of so able an auxiliary to the objects of our higher literature as the "Southern Review," can scarcely be overestimated. It is, therefore,

Resolved, That we use our best efforts to extend its circulation.

Resolved, That we hail with pleasure the enlargement of our organ, the Nashville Christian Advocate, especially as with its enlargement its style is improved and its price reduced.

Resolved, That while we recommend the Nashville to our people, as it is our organ, we also take pleasure in recommending the St. Louis Christian Advocate to the patronage of the Church as every way worthy our support.

Resolved, That we also recommend the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist and the Baltimore Christian Advocate to our people.

Resolved, That we are gratified to learn that the METHODIST MISCELLANY, a monthly paper, is being published in this city, in the interest of our Church, by Bro. J. G. Downtain, and edited by Rev. H. P. Walker, and we cordially commend it also to the patronage of our people.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHARLES TAYLOR, Chairman.

("C.")

Report of Lay Delegates.

IN pursuance of an order of the Conference, referring a resolution to the Lay Delegates of this Conference, upon the number and mode of electing Lay Delegates to the District Conferences, Resolved, 1st, That the number of Lay Delegates for the District Conferences, to be held in the Kentucky Conference, shall be one from each Quarterly Conference and one from each Society, elected respectively by these bodies.

Resolved, 2d, That said Delegates be elected by the 1st of April after the adjournment of the Annual Conference.

Resolved, 3d, That the qualifications of said Delegates are, that they shall be twenty-one years of age, and shall have been members of the M. E. Church South at least one year before their election.

T. J. OVERSTREET, Chairman.

Report of the Committee on Temperance.

THE Committee upon the subject of Temperance, after having considered the question, have directed the Chairman to report the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in our judgment, the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, as also the manufacture and traffic in the same, are inconsistent with the principles of christianity and the Discipline of our Church;

Therefore, we pledge ourselves to use all laudable means in our power to banish these evils from our Church.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. C. MORRIS, Chairman.

American Bible Society.

Resolved, That we extend to the American Bible Society our most cordial sympathy and support in its well-directed efforts to supply the destitute portions of our country with the Holy Scriptures.

Resolved, That we will heartily co-operate with the agent in promoting the interest of this work.

Resolved, That we approve the labors and efforts of Dr. Geo. S. Savage, the agent, in his noble work, and that we recommend his continuance in the field.

("F.")

Financial Plan.

LET the stewards of each work, at the earliest practical moment after Conference, make the allowance of the preacher in charge, and add to this not only the claim of the presiding-elder, but also all the collections ordered by the Annual Conference and apportioned by the District stewards, and let them divide this aggregate among the different churches.

Let the preacher, at the first Church Conference thereafter of each church, cause the amount thus apportioned to be stated. Let the Conference appoint three or five discreet men (other than the stewards, if possible), as a committee, who shall, with the church register before them, assess each member the amount which, in the judgment of the committee, is equitable.

Let each member be notified of his assessment, either by reading it publicly, or by written notice, and his approval secured. If any do not agree to their assessment, let the deficit be apportioned as before.

The stewards should take this assessment list, and, dividing the names according to circumstances and convenience, call regularly, either once a quarter, monthly, or weekly, upon every member, and collect the assessment against each member.

At the close of the year, let the Secretary of each Church Conference read publicly the assessment against the members, with the amount paid by each; and if there be a deficiency, and it can not be raised, let the preacher and the presiding-elder share pro rata with the different demands embraced in the original assessment.

("F"—2.)

THE Joint Board of Finance have had under advisement the complications growing out of exorbitant assessments against the weaker works, by the District Stewards, for the support of the presiding-elder, and for the other apportionments ordered by the Annual Conference, and in order, as far as possible, to equalize these apportionments, we offer the following:

Resolved, That the District Stewards, in apportioning the claim of the presiding-elder and the collections ordered by the Annual Conference, shall make the assessments against the various works in proportion to the claims of the preachers upon those works respectively.

W. T. POYNTER, Chairman.

Agreement between the Boards of Education of the Kentucky and Louisville Conferences.

COMMISSIONERS of the Boards of Education of the Kentucky and Louisville Conferences, in joint session, agree to recommend to their respective Conferences, the following plan of co-operation in their educational interests, viz:

1. The Louisville Conference to pledge its patronage to Kentucky Wesleyan University.

2. The Louisville Conference to raise an Educational Fund, and vest the same as they judge best, and pay over the proceeds of the said fund to the Board of Education of the Kentucky Conference, for the benefit of said University.

3. When the funds raised by the Louisville Conference shall yield a sufficiency for the support of a professorship in the University, the Louisville Conference shall have the right to elect the professor for the same.

4. When the funds raised by the Louisville Conference shall equal the funds raised by the Kentucky Conference, then the two Conferences shall equally and jointly control the University.

5. At any time previous to the formation of said complete union and control of the said University by said Conferences, the Louisville Conference may withhold from the University the proceeds of their funds, by giving the Board of the Kentucky Conference one year's previous notice of their intention to do so.

Report of Committee on Education.

YOUR Committee desire to congratulate the Conference on the growing importance of our educational interests. The reproach, so often thrown in our face by the prejudiced and misinformed, always without foundation in fact, has become so absurd as a taunt as scarcely to excite indignant denial. Methodism was organized in the proudest University of Europe, in the Augustan age of English literature, and its founders ranked among the most distinguished scholars of the period. It has, from the beginning, fostered learning, until now, grown up and independent, it gives fair and flattering prospect of leading the march of educational progress. The Wesleyan proprietary schools have long been the nearest approach which England has made to a system of popular education. In this country, no Church can point to so many endowed institutions of learning as American Methodism can. Our sons are fast becoming "as plants grown up in their youth," and our daughters "as corner-stones polished after the similitude of a palace." Ours is an infant organization compared with many others, yet it has given signs of giant strength when it shall have reached its full maturity of development. Methodism has ever felt assured that the doctrines she proclaims are best entrenched when most intelligently preached and comprehended. Her mission has been, not only to save immortal souls, but to make the Church a center of light, shedding a sanctified ra-diance over all the fields of God's empire, as it extends over the areas of the physical creation, the ranges of mind, and of the human heart. Within the bounds of our own Conference, we catalogue seven institutions of high grade—all of them liberally patronized by an appreciative membership, and giving unmistakable omens of increasing usefulness and of brightening prospects.

KENTUCKY WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY.

First in our affections, and in its importance to the Church, is the "Kentucky Wesleyan University." Although only opened as a college four years ago, it has an alumni of ten noble young men, who have already begun careers of honor and usefulness, and five of them in the Methodist ministry. Last year, 144 students matriculated, and the decorum of the young men has been marked by such uniform propriety as to excite the admiration of all acquainted with their conduct, and the excellent discipline that has obtained in the Institution. The faculty has proven itself competent, and the faithful tuitions of the Professors, and the excellent administration of the President, have shed a lustre over the earliest years of its history most gratifying to behold. Some who are impatient and dyspeptic have prophesied the failure of our college enterprise. Let the Church set down the prognostications of such croakers to other causes than those incident to the real history of this Institution. Its success, thus far, has been sufficient to satisfy the expectations of all those who are willing to cast their bread upon the waters, in the faith that it will be gathered up many days hence. Colleges can not be built up in a day. It requires years of patient labor, and much prayerful hope to complete a University scheme of large proportions. We must be willing to work continuously and undespairingly, even though we have no hope ever to see, in time, the radiant dream of our first enthusiasm realized in a chrystalized fact. The great Universities of both Europe and this country have grown from small beginnings to their present imposing magnitude. Could Alfred the Great rise from his tomb to-day, would he recognize, in the mammoth University which he founded, in faith, so long ago, the elementary Institution which has developed into such sollossal proportions? Oh, that we had that far reaching purpose of soul which projects its plans for the benefit of generations yet unborn—of ages to come long after we have slept in the sepulchre of oblivion! We should have faith that in the "Kentucky Wesleyan University" we have laid the basis of an Institution that shall grow like a cedar on Lebanon, flourishing grand and green through long winters of adversity, and with every recurring summer stretching its boughs wider, and strengthening its trunk, until it shall nod to the hurricane as it sweeps over it, and lift up its branches to receive the kiss of the beneficent sun when it has passed on its furious way.

We would call attention to the fact that no other College of the Methodist Church South—unless it be Emory and Henry—has had, during the last year, so many students as our own; and yet, we hear no despairing cry from their respective friends. Yea, more; no College in Kentucky, receiving no bonus from the State, has been even approximately prosperous. We believe, from indications brought to the view of your Committee, that the present collegiate year, about to open, will be more prosperous than the past. We have a building, substantial, commodious, and beautiful in its architecture, worth, with its ample campus, not less than forty thousand dollars; we have a fully secured endowment fund of sixty-five thousand dollars; we have scores of encouraging pledges made that it shall be remembered in the dying bequests of those able to leave a rich blessing behind them; we have the prospect of a pleasing alliance with our brethren of the Louisville Conference; we have the hearty co-operation of the Western Virginia Conference; we have the prestige of the success that has already attended its career; in fine, we have every thing to reinforce confidence, and to make timidity, irresolution, and distrust criminal and craven. Let every preacher and layman leave this Conference with the conviction that a brilliant history awaits the future of our University, and with the firmly fixed resolve to contribute to the inauguration of the era when the most skeptical will be compelled to admit the utility and feasibility of the enterprise.

Your Committee desires to attest the faithfulness and capability of the retiring President. We rejoice to know that no distrust of its success impelled him to resign his official station, but on the other hand, that it was a desire to enter into the itinerant work among us. The loss to the University is not irreparable, while our active field-force has received valuable strength.

MILLERSBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.

This Institution has been purchased, and handsomely remodeled and refitted, by Judge WM. H. SAVAGE, and his assumption of the Presidency is a sufficient guarantee that its future will rival its past, and achieve even much more for the Church in the years that lie before it. Your Chairman was a college-mate of the President, and can attest his eminent abilities. As a student, he ranked high—he had no peer in the literary society of which we were both members, and when he graduated, it was with the highest honors of his Alma Mater. Since he entered upon practical life, he has been recalled to the halls of his scholastic years to deliver the annual commencement address—a fact in itself sufficient to show the high esteem in which his talent and personal worth were held by those most competent to sit in judgment upon them.

The faculty of this Institution has been thoroughly reorganized, and the College, being located near the University, will both receive and lend aid.

HARMONIA COLLEGE.

This is a mixed school, both sexes being educated in its halls. It has been of eminent service in the country where it is located, and, doubtless, will continue, under the new auspices, to be as useful to society and to the Church, as under the old. President GODBEY has retired with the kindest regards of his pupils and patrons, giving place to Prof. B. J. BORDEN, who enters upon his duties supported by a long experience and the confidence of the public. This Institution is located at Perryville, and we can heartily commend it to the patronage of our people, believing that it can but be a valuable adjunct to our University.

SCIENCE HILL FEMALE ACADEMY.

This Academy was founded in March, 1825, and has been prosperous from the beginning, having, in all points, as we believe, been the most successful candidate for public favor that has ever invited the patronage of the American people. The venerable principal, Mrs. JULIA A. TEVIS, though having reached three-score years and ten, is one of those happy women the days of whose years have been full of labor and joy. She is yet vigorous in body and mind, and devotes her personal attention to the conduct of the Academy and the instruction of its young ladies. The visiting committee report 192 pupils attending upon the school during the last academic year, with a graduating class of 21. It is located at Shelbyville, and has buildings and appointments unsurpassed for the convenience of a large female boarding school.

PROF. DODD'S HIGH SCHOOL.

This classical school, located at Shelbyville, continues to enjoy the prosperity that has characterized it from the beginning, and which it must continue to enjoy so long as its fortunes are protected by the polished shield of its accomplished principal.

GREENWOOD SEMINARY.

This school for young ladies, located in Frankfort, and under the skillful supervision of Mrs. MARY TRAYNE RUNYAN, has been under the personal, frequent inspection of the chairman of your committee, and he can testify to the thoroughness of teaching, the excellent discipline, and the fine physical training which characterizes its system.

KENTUCKY MILITARY INSTITUTE.

The superintendent, Col. R. T. P. ALLEN, a valuable member of this Conference, desires to place this Institution under your inspection; and we recommend the appointment of a committee of visitation, to attend its next commencement. The Institute had about 150 cadets last year, all of whom boarded in the barracks. The discipline is purely military, and the courteous bearing of the young men is a visible attestation of the excellency of the drill and government practiced in the Institute. The superintendent is a graduate of West Point, an educator of tried and acknowledged worth, a valuable and generous friend of the Church, who is at this time giving gratuitous board and tuition to three young men, studying for the ministry in the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The religious tone of the Institution is set to a truly christian key—prayers are daily held in the chapel, and regular Sabbath services are held for the benefit of the cadets. We recommend the Bishop to appoint Col. R. T. P. ALLEN to the superintendency of the Institution, believing that his unfaltering devotion to the cause of sanctified learning, and his frequent gospel ministrations to his pupils afford him a field of christian usefulness rare in its opportunities and fruitful of religious results.

Your committee, in submitting this report, feels grateful to God for having given us a cown so richly set with jewels, and prays that His divine grace may make us worthy long to wear it with a commendable, grateful pride.

H. A. M. HENDERSON, Chairman.

MEMOIR.

REV. JOHN R. HALL died in the city of Philadelphia, on the 21st of June, 1870, in the seventieth year of his age. It is regretted that we have so little information concerning his early life, and so few particulars in reference to his last moments.

It is believed that he was born and educated in the city of Philadelphia; that he there became a carriage-maker by trade; that he was extensively engaged in that business at Pittsburg, at Wheeling, and at St. Louis. About thirty years ago, he removed to the city of Louisville, with very limited financial resources, and greatly depressed in spirit. Some time during the Conference year of 1842-3, he strayed into the old Fourth Street Church, where Rev. GEORGE W. BRUSH was preaching. The heart-searching discourse of the preacher so affected his unknown hearer as to make him consider himself personally insulted. He was strongly tempted to demand an apology, or administer a chastisement, but happily decided to hear the preacher again before proceeding to such extremities. He heard, repented, believed, and was converted. From this time he continued to be strong in the faith, fervent in prayer, and active in the service of Christ and his Church. His business troubles were carried to the throne of the heavenly grace, and, as he firmly believed, direct answers to his prayers frequently removed the most serious financial embarrassments. In a few years he acquired a comfortable estate and retired from business.

Though beginning to be an old man, he was licensed to preach, and, after laboring a short time as a local preacher, was admitted on trial in the Louisville Annual Conference, in 1850. He served the Twelfth Street Church two years, Portland one year, and was again appointed to the Twelfth Street Church. His labors as an itinerant were highly successful, but his peculiar circumstances induced him to ask for a location.

After his location, he labored very actively, and with considerable success. During the war, he was employed, for a short time, as a supply for the Church at Boonville, Missouri. In 1866, he was re-admitted into the traveling connection, in the Kentucky Annual Conference, and stationed at Danville. He was not successful at this place, but he labored with his usual zeal, and preached to attentive congregations. At the close of this year, the state of his own health, and the afflictions of his wife, led him to ask for and obtain a superannuated relation. At the Conference of 1869, he was made a supernumerary, and connected with the Covington station; but, living hundreds of miles away, he was not able to render any service in this charge.

Though Bro. HALL seemed to be a restless, discontented man—frequently removing from place to place—he never ceased to be prayerful, laborious, and successful as a preacher. Whether living in Kentucky or Missouri, in Louisville, Cincinnati, Baltimore, or Philadelphia, he was always “in labors more abundant.”

Though a decided Southern Methodist, the pulpits of the North were ever open to so true and zealous a Methodist minister. On the 12th of May last, he saw his aged wife depart for the better land, and in a few days he, as we believe, joined her in the blessed abodes.
